2.5 - Evaluation Process and Reforms

2.5.1 - Mechanism of internal assessment is transparent and robust in terms of frequency and mode. Write description within 200 words.

A transparent and robust mechanism for internal assessment encompasses various vital elements. It begins with establishing clear criteria for assessment, ensuring that both students and instructors understand the standards for evaluation. Assessment should be conducted regularly throughout the learning process, employing diverse modes such as exams, presentations, projects, and group work to evaluate different skills and knowledge areas. Transparency is crucial, with assessment criteria communicated clearly to all stakeholders. Constructive feedback should accompany assessments, fostering student improvement. Fairness and consistency are paramount, necessitating uniform standards and grading practices. Alignment with learning objectives ensures assessments measure desired outcomes effectively. The mechanism should be adaptable to accommodate diverse learning contexts and student needs.

B.P. Chaliha College integrates these components into its internal assessment practices, ensuring transparency and support for student learning and success. Each department continuously assesses students through various methods, adhering to guidelines set by Gauhati University. Internal exam results, along with teacher evaluations of assignments and projects, inform student evaluations. Departments appoint teachers to oversee assessment processes, maintaining transparency. The college's academic programs follow the curriculum outlined by Gauhati University, ensuring consistency and alignment with broader educational objectives.

2.5.2 - Mechanism to deal with internal examination related grievances is transparent, time- bound and efficient

Ensuring transparent and efficient handling of internal examinationrelated grievances is imperative for fostering trust and fairness within educational institutions. Key mechanisms to achieve this include establishing a Grievance Redressal Committee (GRC) comprising diverse members, facilitating clear communication channels for grievance submission, and setting specific timelines for resolution stages. Transparency in the investigation process, providing opportunities for response, and making fair decisions based on evidence are essential. Prompt notification of outcomes and an appeals process further enhance fairness. Continuous evaluation of the grievance redressal mechanism is vital for ongoing improvement. B.P. Chaliha College endeavors to adhere to these principles in addressing internal examination grievances. Alongside the Grievance Redressal Cell, a statutory examination board overseen by the Principal manages internal assessment processes, ensuring transparency. Teachers meticulously evaluate sessional examination scripts, engaging students in result discussions and verification. Head of Departments personally supervise grievance resolution, although grievances are rare. The institution follows guidelines set by Gauhati University for internal assessments, maintaining standards. This comprehensive approach aims to swiftly and effectively resolve grievances, upholding integrity in the examination process.

2.6 - Student Performance and Learning Outcomes

2.6.1 - Teachers and students are aware of the stated Programme and course outcomes of the Programmes offered by the institution.

In educational institutions, the awareness of stated program and course outcomes among teachers and students is vital for effective learning and teaching. Program outcomes define the overarching objectives of academic programs, detailing the knowledge, skills, and competencies students should acquire. Similarly, course outcomes specify the learning goals for individual courses. For teachers, understanding these outcomes is crucial for designing curriculum, selecting appropriate teaching methods, and assessing student progress. Aligning teaching strategies with stated outcomes ensures that instruction is targeted towards achieving desired learning objectives. Likewise, for students, awareness of program and course outcomes empowers them to take responsibility for their learning journey. It helps them set clear academic goals, track their progress, and engage actively in their studies. Moreover, knowing the expected outcomes enhances motivation and provides context for the relevance of their coursework.

The course outcomes of each course are uploaded in the departmental page of the college website. At the beginning of each semester an orientation is organized by each department to make the students aware of the course outcomes and program outcomes.

2.6.2 - Attainment of Programme outcomes and course outcomes are evaluated by the institution.

In the realm of higher education, the systematic evaluation of Programme Outcomes (POs) and Course Outcomes (COs) is a cornerstone of academic excellence and continuous improvement. This process not only aligns with accreditation standards but also ensures that the educational offerings meet the evolving demands of the industry and society. Defining Programme and Course Outcomes Programme Outcomes are overarching statements that articulate the knowledge, skills, and attitudes that students are expected to possess upon completing a degree program. Course Outcomes are more granular, detailing the specific abilities that students should acquire through individual courses. The Evaluation Mechanism B P Chaliha College employ a variety of methods to evaluate the attainment of POs and COs: • Direct Assessments: These include exams, projects, and practicals that directly measure students' competencies against the COs and, by extension, the POs. • Indirect Assessments: Surveys, feedback, and alumni testimonials offer insights into the long-term impact of the education on students' careers and personal development. The Process of Evaluation 1. Articulation: The CO and PO of each course is uploaded in college website. 2. Mapping: Establishing a relationship between COs and POs to ensure curriculum relevance. 3. Assessment Design: Creating tools and rubrics for objective measurement of outcomes. The course outcomes, program outcomes and program specific outcomes are measured through the results of end semester exams. It follows mainly two rubrics: qualitative and quantitative.

5.3.2 - Institution facilitates students' representation and engagement in various administrative, cocurricular and extracurricular activities (student council/ students representation on various bodies as per established processes and norms)

The institution plays a pivotal role in fostering students' representation and engagement in diverse administrative, cocurricular, and extracurricular activities. Through established processes and norms, students are provided with opportunities to actively participate in decision-making processes and contribute to the overall governance of the institution.

One of the primary avenues for student representation is through the establishment of a student council or similar governing body. These bodies, comprised of elected student representatives, serve as a platform for voicing student concerns, advocating for their interests, and collaborating with faculty and administration on matters affecting the student body. Students on these councils participate in discussions, propose initiatives, and provide feedback on institutional policies and practices.

Additionally, students are encouraged to engage in various administrative committees and task forces, where they can offer valuable perspectives and insights on issues ranging from academic curriculum development to campus facilities management.

Beyond administrative roles, institutions facilitate students' involvement in a wide array of co-curricular and extracurricular activities, including clubs, societies, sports teams, cultural events, and community service initiatives. These activities not only enrich students' educational experiences but also promote leadership skills, teamwork, and personal development. By actively involving students in these capacities, the institution fosters a sense of ownership and belonging among the student body, empowers them to take initiative and make meaningful contributions to campus life, and cultivates a vibrant and inclusive learning community. Ultimately, this collaborative approach to student engagement enhances the overall educational experience and contributes to the holistic development of students.

GOVERNANCE, LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT

6.1 - Institutional Vision and Leadership

6.1.1 - The governance of the institution is reflective of and in tune with the vision and mission of the institution

Considering the Vision and Mission statements, the college is dedicated to providing quality education to economically underprivileged and geographically isolated persons with increased capacity for scientific temper, rational thinking, and democratic action in every field of life. The institution aims to attain its vision and mission with the combined efforts of all the stakeholders, including the Governing body, teaching and nonteaching staff, alumni, parents, and the student community. The Principal is the executive authority of all concerns related to the academics and Governance of the college. All the academic planning for the year such as curriculum, routine, and maintenance of classes, is discussed with the heads of the departments, and decisions are communicated to the respective faculty members through the heads of the department by the principal. The college offers a congenial environment to bring up students in academic excellence in various fields like sports, music, literature, and culture by constituting several committees or clubs under the leadership of the Principal. Proper authority and responsibility are also delegated to them by the appropriate authority for effective and timely implementation of the perspective plans of the college.

6.1.2 - The effective leadership is visible in various institutional practices such as decentralization and participative management.

The practices of decentralization and participative management aim to ensure the best possible involvement and representation of all the stakeholders of the college in its journey toward excellence. In this regard, two best practices that we would like to mention here:

1. The principal constitutes separately an admission and examination committee involving both teaching and non-teaching staff. The committee takes charge of the entire process of admission and the conduction of the examination. The Principal arranged a meeting with both committees to discuss the general rules and regulations of admission and examination for smooth processing.

2. Every year, the institution holds "College Week," which aims to provide students a platform to develop their ability and expertise in different fields like sports, music, literature, culture, etc. and students are encouraged to participate. The principal, being the Chairman of the college week, assigns one or more teachers as convener(s) to conduct the events. The convener(s) allot some teachers-in-charge in different fields to lead and control the events to be arranged. The teacher-in-charge along with the student union secretary of the respective field designed the event and inspired the students to bring about the best in them.

7.2 - Best Practices

7.2.1 - Describe two best practices successfully implemented by the Institution as per NAAC format provided in the Manual.

BEST PRACTICE - 1

Title: Holistic development of the institution and its contribution to the society

In today's rapidly evolving world, education must go beyond the mere transmission of information within classroom walls. Students need opportunities to engage with real-world challenges, develop critical thinking skills, and cultivate holistic competencies such as communication, collaboration, creativity, and adaptability. The Holistic Endeavor initiative recognizes the importance of integrating experiential learning, community engagement, and personal growth into the educational journey to prepare students for success in the present world.

BEST PRACTICE - 2

Title: Sustainable Horizons: Building a Clean and Green Campus Community.

Clean and green campus practices are essential in modern-day educational institutions to act as pioneers in the conservation of the environment and raise awareness in society. Institutions of higher education have a unique opportunity to lead by example in adopting green and clean practices. These practices align with global sustainability goals, such as the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals, and are in response to the pressing need to address climate change and resource depletion. A green and clean campus not only benefits the environment but also promotes a healthy and vibrant community for students, faculty, and staff. By implementing best practices for sustainability, campuses can reduce their ecological footprint and inspire individuals to become stewards of the environment. Here, we delve into the strategies and initiatives that contribute to creating a green and clean campus environment.

CURRICULAR ASPECTS

1.1 - Curricular Planning and Implementation

1.1.1 - The Institution ensures effective curriculum delivery through a well planned and documented process

The college ensures effective curriculum delivery and documentation through systematic and strategic mechanisms which are transparent in nature. The college follows the Academic calendar issued by Gauhati University and executes it rigorously. The head of departments distribute papers and review the progress of syllabus. Periodic assessment of curriculum delivery is done. Chalk and board teaching method is basically followed to deliver information among the students in our institution. Lecture method along with notes wherever it's required is provided to the students. For proper delivery of curriculum our faculty tries to organize different activities such as seminars, project work, tutorials, assignments, group discussion Etc. These help to understand the practical knowledge of respective subject. We also arrange educational tours to provide field knowledge in respective subjects to students. Online platforms such as YOUTUBE, whatsapp etc. are used for effective teaching. Faculties also upload ICT based materials on the college website. Each department maintains a departmental library to facilitate the students to access to latest books. The books are issued to the students as and when needed by them and record of the same is maintained by all the departments. 2.5 - Evaluation Process and Reforms

2.5.1 - Mechanism of internal assessment is transparent and robust in terms of frequency and mode. Write description within 200 words.

A transparent and robust mechanism for internal assessment encompasses various vital elements. It begins with establishing clear criteria for assessment, ensuring that both students and instructors understand the standards for evaluation. Assessment should be conducted regularly throughout the learning process, employing diverse modes such as exams, presentations, projects, and group work to evaluate different skills and knowledge areas. Transparency is crucial, with assessment criteria communicated clearly to all stakeholders. Constructive feedback should accompany assessments, fostering student improvement. Fairness and consistency are paramount, necessitating uniform standards and grading practices. Alignment with learning objectives ensures assessments measure desired outcomes effectively. The mechanism should be adaptable to accommodate diverse learning contexts and student needs. B.P. Chaliha College integrates these components into its internal assessment practices, ensuring transparency and support for student learning and success. Each department continuously assesses students through various methods, adhering to guidelines set by Gauhati University. Internal exam results, along with teacher evaluations of assignments and projects, inform student evaluations. Departments appoint teachers to oversee assessment processes, maintaining transparency. The college's academic programs follow the curriculum outlined by Gauhati University, ensuring consistency and alignment with broader educational objectives.

2.5.2 - Mechanism to deal with internal examination related grievances is transparent, time- bound and efficient

Ensuring transparent and efficient handling of internal examination-related grievances is imperative for fostering trust and fairness within educational institutions. Key mechanisms to achieve this include establishing a Grievance Redressal Committee (GRC) comprising diverse members, facilitating clear communication channels for grievance submission, and setting specific timelines for resolution stages. Transparency in the investigation process, providing opportunities for response, and making fair decisions based on evidence are essential. Prompt notification of outcomes and an appeals process further enhance fairness. Continuous evaluation of the grievance redressal mechanism is vital for ongoing improvement.

B.P. Chaliha College endeavors to adhere to these principles in addressing internal examination grievances. Alongside the Grievance Redressal Cell, a statutory examination board overseen by the Principal manages internal assessment processes, ensuring transparency. Teachers meticulously evaluate sessional examination scripts, engaging students in result discussions and verification. Head of Departments personally supervise grievance resolution, although grievances are rare. 2.6 - Student Performance and Learning Outcomes

2.6.1 - Teachers and students are aware of the stated Programme and course outcomes of the Programmes offered by the institution.

In educational institutions, the awareness of stated program and course outcomes among teachers and students is vital for effective learning and teaching. Program outcomes define the overarching objectives of academic programs, detailing the knowledge, skills, and competencies students should acquire. Similarly, course outcomes specify the learning goals for individual courses. For teachers, understanding these outcomes is crucial for designing curriculum, selecting appropriate teaching methods, and assessing student progress. Aligning teaching strategies with stated outcomes ensures that instruction is targeted towards achieving desired learning objectives. Likewise, for students, awareness of program and course outcomes empowers them to take responsibility for their learning journey. It helps them set clear academic goals, track their progress, and engage actively in their studies. Moreover, knowing the expected outcomes enhances motivation and provides context for the relevance of their coursework.

The course outcomes of each course are uploaded in the departmental page of the college website. At the beginning of each semester an orientation is organized by each department to make the students aware of the course outcomes and program outcomes.

2.6.2 - Attainment of Programme outcomes and course outcomes are evaluated by the institution.

In the realm of higher education, the systematic evaluation of Programme Outcomes (POs) and Course Outcomes (COs) is a cornerstone of academic excellence and continuous improvement. This process not only aligns with accreditation standards but also ensures that the educational offerings meet the evolving demands of the industry and society. Defining Programme and Course Outcomes Programme Outcomes are overarching statements that articulate the knowledge, skills, and attitudes that students are expected to possess upon completing a degree program. Course Outcomes are more granular, detailing the specific abilities that students should acquire through individual courses. The Evaluation Mechanism B P Chaliha College employ a variety of methods to evaluate the attainment of POs and COs: • Direct Assessments: These include exams, projects, and practicals that directly measure students' competencies against the COs and, by extension, the POs. • Indirect Assessments: Surveys, feedback, and alumni testimonials offer insights into the long-term impact of the education on students' careers and personal development. The Process of Evaluation 1. Articulation: The CO and PO of each course is uploaded in college website. 2. Mapping: Establishing a relationship between COs and POs to ensure curriculum relevance. 3. Assessment Design: Creating tools and rubrics for objective measurement of outcomes. The course outcomes, program outcomes and program specific outcomes are measured through the results of end semester exams. It follows mainly two rubrics: qualitative and quantitative.

5.3.2 - Institution facilitates students' representation and engagement in various administrative, cocurricular and extracurricular activities (student council/ students representation on various bodies as per established processes and norms)

The institution plays a pivotal role in fostering students' representation and engagement in diverse administrative, cocurricular, and extracurricular activities. Through established processes and norms, students are provided with opportunities to actively participate in decision-making processes and contribute to the overall governance of the institution.

One of the primary avenues for student representation is through the establishment of a student council or similar governing body. These bodies, comprised of elected student representatives, serve as a platform for voicing student concerns, advocating for their interests, and collaborating with faculty and administration on matters affecting the student body. Students on these councils participate in discussions, propose initiatives, and provide feedback on institutional policies and practices.

Additionally, students are encouraged to engage in various administrative committees and task forces, where they can offer valuable perspectives and insights on issues ranging from academic curriculum development to campus facilities management.

Beyond administrative roles, institutions facilitate students' involvement in a wide array of co-curricular and extracurricular activities, including clubs, societies, sports teams, cultural events, and community service initiatives. These activities not only enrich students' educational experiences but also promote leadership skills, teamwork, and personal development.

By actively involving students in these capacities, the institution fosters a sense of ownership and belonging among the student body, empowers them to take initiative and make meaningful contributions to campus life, and cultivates a vibrant and inclusive learning community. Ultimately, this collaborative approach to student engagement enhances the overall educational experience and contributes to the holistic development of students.

GOVERNANCE, LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT

6.1 - Institutional Vision and Leadership

6.1.1 - The governance of the institution is reflective of and in tune with the vision and mission of the institution

Considering the Vision and Mission statements, the college is dedicated to providing quality education to economically underprivileged and geographically isolated persons with increased capacity for scientific temper, rational thinking, and democratic action in every field of life. The institution aims to attain its vision and mission with the combined efforts of all the stakeholders, including the Governing body, teaching and nonteaching staff, alumni, parents, and the student community. The Principal is the executive authority of all concerns related to the academics and Governance of the college. All the academic planning for the year such as curriculum, routine, and maintenance of classes, is discussed with the heads of the departments, and decisions are communicated to the respective faculty members through the heads of the department by the principal. The college offers a congenial environment to bring up students in academic excellence in various fields like sports, music, literature, and culture by constituting several committees or clubs under the leadership of the Principal. Proper authority and responsibility are also delegated to them by the appropriate authority for effective and timely implementation of the perspective plans of the college.

6.1.2 - The effective leadership is visible in various institutional practices such as decentralization and participative management.

The practices of decentralization and participative management aim to ensure the best possible involvement and representation of all the stakeholders of the college in its journey toward excellence. In this regard, two best practices that we would like to mention here:

1. The principal constitutes separately an admission and examination committee involving both teaching and non-teaching staff. The committee takes charge of the entire process of admission and the conduction of the examination. The Principal arranged a meeting with both committees to discuss the general rules and regulations of admission and examination for smooth processing.

2. Every year, the institution holds "College Week," which aims to provide students a platform to develop their ability and expertise in different fields like sports, music, literature, culture, etc. and students are encouraged to participate. The principal, being the Chairman of the college week, assigns one or more teachers as convener(s) to conduct the events. The convener(s) allot some teachers-in-charge in different fields to lead and control the events to be arranged. The teacher-in-charge along with the student union secretary of the respective field designed the event and inspired the students to bring about the best in them.

6.2.2 - The functioning of the institutional bodies is effective and efficient as visible from policies, administrative setup, appointment and service rules, procedures, etc.

The Governing Body is the top Executive Body of the institution. The principal plays a vital role in executing all policy decisions and recommendations passed by the governing body (GB) of the college both in academics and in governance. The principal catalyzes all academic and extra-curricular activities by the teaching staff of the college, whereas other administrative activities are coordinated by the office staff. The principal plays a major role in developing a professional community of teachers who guide the students to improve themselves in every possible way. IQAC is one of the institutional bodies formed by teaching and non-teaching staff, students, and some dignitaries from the locality who play an important role in devising and implementing quality initiatives of the college. IQAC is involved in making major decisions for the institute relating to teaching, learning, administration, and governance in collaboration with faculty members. Leading by one coordinator, a core committee is formed that approves the academic programmes and provides appropriate directions.

6.3.5 - Institutions Performance Appraisal System for teaching and non- teaching staff

The College follows the rules and regulations prescribed by the Directorate of Higher Education (DHE), Government of Assam for the Performance Appraisal of both teaching and non-teaching staff. Promotions of the teachers are based on the performancebased appraisal system (PBAS) form for the UGC Career Advancement Scheme (CAS) that is based on the API score. The College asks the teachers to prepare a self-evaluation report before submission of AQAR and mandatorily one PBAS before any proposal for promotion under CAS. Both the self-evaluation report and PBAS reveal the involvement of the teacher in academic and non-academic activities. The Principal and IQAC of the college scrutinize the performance followed by a screening committee cum Departmental Promotion Committee (DPC) which is then forwarded to higher authority for proper action.

6.5.2 - The institution reviews its teaching learning process, structures & methodologies of operations and learning outcomes at periodic intervals through IQAC set up as per norms and recorded the incremental improvement in various activities

As the college is affiliated with Gauhati University, it follows the Academic Calendar prepared by the university. The academic calendar is strictly followed during the academic year. Every year a joint meeting of parents, students, and teachers is convened by the IQAC of the college to discuss the teachinglearning process. Moreover, the IQAC advises the departments to find out the slow learners and advanced learners based on performance in the internal assessment, group discussions, and departmental seminars and accordingly to take proper methodology like remedial classes for the slow learners. Advanced learners are also guided by the departments for further improvement, entry into higher education, and career advancement. INSTITUTIONAL VALUES AND BEST PRACTICES

7.1 - Institutional Values and Social Responsibilities

7.1.1 - Measures initiated by the Institution for the promotion of gender equity during the year

The institution organizes awareness campaigns and events such as the International Women's Day celebration to highlight gender issues and celebrate the achievements of women. The college has an Internal complaints committee cell which is working actively towards addressing concerns related to gender-based discrimination and harassment. The college offers support services, including mentorship programs and counseling centers through the Career Guidance and Information Center (CGIC) and the women's cell. These services aim to address the unique needs and challenges faced by female students and staff. To enhance safety and security on campus, the college has installed CCTV surveillance cameras and has a well-defined boundary wall. These measures are in place to ensure the protection and well-being of students. The NCC Unit of the college is actively working towards achieving gender equity by enrolling 33 percent of girls, emphasizing inclusivity and equal opportunities. Both male and female NSS volunteers are actively involved in various initiatives and cleanliness drives. For the convenience and comfort of female students, the college provides a separate common room and three hostels for those coming from distant locations. There are also dedicated washrooms for women staff.

7.1.3 - Describe the facilities in the Institution for the management of the following types of degradable and non-degradable waste (within 200 words) Solid waste management Liquid waste management Biomedical waste management E-waste management Waste recycling system Hazardous chemicals and radioactive waste management

To promote waste reduction and enhance energy efficiency, the college campus has organized awareness campaigns. The college has adopted various waste management practices, which can be categorized as follows:

1. Management of Solid Waste: The college employs a systematic approach to collecting solid waste, segregating it into wet and dry categories. Waste from all sources, with biodegradable waste being directed to compost pits and vermicomposting units for the production of organic fertilizer and recycling purposes. Nonbiodegradable waste generated within the college premises is transferred to designated waste disposal services for proper handling.

2. Biomedical Waste Management: The college's female hostel is equipped with an incinerator dedicated to the safe disposal of sanitary napkins, ensuring the appropriate management of biomedical waste.

3. Electronic Waste Management: Electronic waste is primarily subject to repair procedures. Non-functional electronic components are subsequently sold as scrap.

4. Waste Recycling System:Within the college, a vermicomposting unit operates to facilitate the conversion of decomposable waste materials into valuable organic fertilizer.

5. Hazardous Chemicals and Radioactive Waste: Chemicals from the laboratory are disposed of in a separate tank made of brick and charcoal which acts as adsorbent and is dedicated to the disposal of hazardous chemicals. Importantly, the college does not produce any radioactive waste materials.

7.2.1 - Describe two best practices successfully implemented by the Institution as per NAAC format provided in the Manual.

BEST PRACTICE - 1

Title: Holistic development of the institution and its contribution to the society

In today's rapidly evolving world, education must go beyond the mere transmission of information within classroom walls. Students need opportunities to engage with real-world challenges, develop critical thinking skills, and cultivate holistic competencies such as communication, collaboration, creativity, and adaptability. The Holistic Endeavor initiative recognizes the importance of integrating experiential learning, community engagement, and personal growth into the educational journey to prepare students for success in the present world.

BEST PRACTICE - 2

Title: Sustainable Horizons: Building a Clean and Green Campus Community.

Clean and green campus practices are essential in modern-day educational institutions to act as pioneers in the conservation of the environment and raise awareness in society. Institutions of higher education have a unique opportunity to lead by example in adopting green and clean practices. These practices align with global sustainability goals, such as the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals, and are in response to the pressing need to address climate change and resource depletion. A green and clean campus not only benefits the environment but also promotes a healthy and vibrant community for students, faculty, and staff. By implementing best practices for sustainability, campuses can reduce their ecological footprint and inspire individuals to become stewards of the environment. Here, we delve into the strategies and initiatives that contribute to creating a green and clean campus environment.
