A Departmental Seminar on - "Hazrat Muhammad (SAs), the prophet of mankind with special reference to his role as (a) Social reformer (b) Nation builder" was held on 07-10-2022 at the B.P. Chaliha College under the auspicious dept. of Arabic of the college.

Dr. Karban Ali Ahmed, Associate professor and HOD, of Arabic conducted the seminar while Dr. Abdus Salam, Associate professor Department of Arabic, B.P. Chaliha College, Nagerbasa. attended the seminar as the resource person. Dr. A. Salam on his speech in the topic described the personality of prophet Muhammad (SAs) his role as a reformer of political, religious, and social. He is the last prophet of Islam who annihilated the discrimination of castes and Creed which was prevailed during the time of Muhammad (SAS). He emphasized to develop the condition of women as well as the condition of slave. The condition of women and slave were not good the Arabs treated the women as their market commodities, they deprived the women from their paternal wealth, Marriage was prohibited among the slave. Muhammad (SAS) wiped out all these by his own hand and gave the women equal rights. He freed the slave from the oppression of the master and offered them social status. All these issues highlighted in his speech.

He also said that Muhammad (SAS) was not only a social reformer but also a nation builder. He established peace and harmony among the different tribes of the Arabs. He secured the life and wealth of the different religions. In short he united the Arabs applying his unique diplomatic quality. At the end of the seminar the chair person delivered his speech and offered thanks to the participants and also other faculty members of the college and with this he concluded the seminar.
