

Report on the Seminar on “Issues of Development Economics”

Organized by the Department of Economics, B.P. Chaliha College, Nagarbera

Date: 12th November 2024

The Department of Economics at B.P. Chaliha College, Nagarbera, organized a seminar on "Issues of Development Economics" on 12th November 2024. The event provided a platform for the 5th-semester students to present their research papers on various topics related to the broad theme. It aimed to foster academic inquiry and critical thinking among students while addressing pertinent economic challenges.

The seminar was organized with the goal of encouraging undergraduate students to delve into real-world issues related to development economics, including poverty, inequality, sustainable development, education, and public health. It aimed to nurture research skills, enhance presentation abilities, and create an environment for intellectual exchange. The seminar featured 09 paper presentations by 5th-semester students, each addressing a unique aspect of development economics.

Following the presentations, an interactive session allowed participants to engage with the presenters. Faculty members posed questions and provided constructive feedback. The discussions enriched the understanding of development economics and offered new perspectives on the challenges and opportunities in the field.

The seminar concluded with a vote of thanks delivered by Firoza Ahmed, Associate Professor in the Department of Economics. She commended the students for their insightful presentations and expressed gratitude to the faculty, staff, and participants for their contributions to the seminar's success.
